Morning Oregonian.

VOL. XIII.—NO. 181. PORTLAND, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1873. PRICE—TEN CENTS.

EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The Massachusetts Farmers take up Arms.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—A well attended public meeting was held to-day under the auspices of the Boston Grange. The meeting was called to order by John B. Bartlett, Master of the Boston Grange, who stated that the principal object was to effect cheap transportation of products from the West to the East and a reform in railroad management, which was not only necessary but indispensable. J. C. Abbott, General Deputy of the National Grange, spoke of the great revolution now going on in the country and urged the importance of putting down railway monopolies. He gave statistics of the earnings of different railroads, necessarily reducing the profit of the producer to almost nothing. He contended that the cost of transportation and travel could be reduced to one quarter of the present rates, and considered the present management of our railway system downright robbery. He claimed that the Order of the Patrons of Husbandry was the only organization that has, with any [illegible] of success, met this monopoly.

Railway Accidents.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—Yesterday a brakeman named John Wilson, on the Lake Shore road, fell on the track and had his leg badly crushed. He lived but a short time.

This morning a conductor on the Lake Shore Railroad discovered a man sitting on the bumper of the engine, and on endeavoring to get him off, the man became frightened, jumped and fell on the track, two cars passing over him, killing him instantly. Name unknown.

Our Regular Murder.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1.—Mr. Ederging, owner of a pottery in Manchester, Ohio, was stabbed by Jim Dougherty, a boatman, and died yesterday from the wounds. Dougherty is under arrest.

Indicted for Murder.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The Grand jury to-day presented an indictment for murder in the first degree against Michael Broderick for killing his son. It will be remembered that the Coroner's jury rendered a verdict that Broderick acted in self defense.

[illegible]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Bischoffsheim & Co., [illegible] in London and their agents here, E. H. Beiderman & Co., having [illegible] through friends, to settle accounts, the courts have been invoked to declare a settlement [illegible] property of Bischoffsheim has been attached.

The New York Sun on the California Election.

A California letter to the Sun, referring to to-morrow's election, says: "It will either perpetuate the power of railroad magnates or trample forever the huge Central Pacific railroad monopoly, which for years has ground the people to the dust."

[illegible]

While the late Mayor [illegible] was living, suit was brought against him by Mary Jane Waldo for $100,000 [illegible] of promise of marriage. Yesterday, she obtained through counsel, an order against his executors to show cause why the trial of the case should not go on.

The Public Debt and the Railways.

[illegible], Sept. 1.—The public debt [illegible] the past month shows the total debt to be [illegible],264,209; total interest, [illegible]; [illegible] Treasury, coin, $87,176,346; currency, [illegible]2,600; special deposits held for redemption of certificates of deposit as provided by law, [illegible]; [illegible] month, [illegible]. Railroad Companies, interest payable in lawful money, [illegible], $1,693,512; interest [illegible] not yet paid, $6,246,285; interest paid by the United States, $20,447,088; interest repaid by transportation of mails, etc., $4,442,211; balance of interest paid by the United States, $[illegible]25,874.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, September 2.—A Washington special says Treasurer Spinner has stated that he never saw a better executed counterfeit than the five hundred legal tender note made [illegible] that the whole [illegible] of [illegible] will [illegible] to be called in and a [illegible].

Police Commissioner Gardner says himself and Capt. McCullough are from the same part of Scotland, and the charges of blackmail [illegible] the latter must be trumped up.

The Central Pacific Railroad politicians are all telegraphing to Washington that they expect to carry the election in California to-morrow, and elect George Gorham to succeed Casserly in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, September 1.—The Commissioner of Pensions announces that he is in receipt of information showing that examining surgeons in various localities have been [illegible] the act of issuing circulars to pensioners, requesting them to appear before them for biennial examination. These circulars are couched in language which tends to mislead [illegible], impressing them with the idea that they must appear before that particular surgeon or Board of Examining Surgeons, and no other, for examination. Invalid pensioners will apply in all cases to the most convenient examining surgeon, which will be the one near and most accessible to their homes, regardless of any circumstance. Circulars of this kind are issued wholly without authority, and are regarded by the Commissioner of Pensions in every respect unprofessional and unwarrantable.

The President appointed Emory B. Beauchamp, of Indiana, U. S. Consul at Aix la Chapelle.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Marine Disasters in the Recent Storm off Cape Breton.

HALIFAX, Sept. 1.—The brig T. H. A. Hogan, which left Liverpool for Nova Scotia on the twelfth of February for Barbadoes, has not been heard of since.

The [illegible] Grand Island, of Archat, was towed into Port Hood, Cape Breton, on Friday, full of water. Five bodies were taken from her hold.

The schooner Swanow of Provincetown, Mass., was lost at Cape Negro, Nova Scotia, on Sunday night during the storm. She was from Grand Banks bound home, and was at Port Mouton on the twenty third when the gale came on. She was anchored westward off the rocks near Cape Negro, but dragged her anchor and drifted among the breakers. The Captain and crew left in three dories and were out all night on the 25th. One of the dories containing one of the crew, landed at Baccaro, a light station, since which time nothing further has been heard of the other dories, which are believed to have been lost.

The brig Ruth, of Swansea, laden with iron, foundered outside Canso Harbor during the storm. All hands were lost.

The schooner Gareloch, Capt. Thompson, was wrecked on North Cape Reef Island on the 17th. A number of persons perished.

Several vessels were wrecked near North Cape, Prince Edward's Island. Several bodies have been picked up on the east side of the island.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

England Assuming a Belligerent Attitude in Spain.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The Times this morning publishes further particulars of negotiations between British Vice Admiral Yelverton and the Cartagena insurgents with regard to the removal of the Spanish iron-clads Almanza and Vittoria. Upon notice from the Admiral of his intention to take the vessels the insurgents answered that the forts would open fire upon the British squadron if the attempt was made. This was on the 26th. The ram Numancia was brought to anchor at the entrance of Escombrera bay within range of the Bel[illegible] British flag ship, and the two vessels lay with their broadsides toward each other. The Bellerophon carries [illegible] guns, an iron plated crew [illegible] and [illegible] pounders. On the 28th Vice Admiral Yelverton replied that he would allow forty-eight hours for reconsideration, at the expiration of which time he would take the vessels. On the 30th Senor Aguilas communicated to Yelverton the hope of the Junta that the affair might be amicably arranged. No later intelligence has been received from Cartagena, but it is believed that the insurgent Junta in [illegible] proposed a compromise by which they would consent to the removal of the Almanza and Vittoria.

English Ministerial Affairs.

The Globe of this evening says the Ministry have determined to submit a statement of the budget to Parliament early next session, on the basis of the abolition of the revenue tax, on which if the House refuses to sustain them they will appeal to the country.

Another Railway Murder.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Accounts have been received of an accident on the Luxembourg railway, by which eighteen passengers were killed and fifteen wounded.

Cholera in France.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Cholera has made its appearance among the troops in Havre, having been communicated, it is thought, by German emigrants en route to the United States. Fashionable loungers of Theonville are much alarmed and are leaving as rapidly as possible.

UTAH.

SALT LAKE, Sept. 2.—Scott, tried for stealing U. S. cavalry horses, was found guilty in the Probate Court and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Amos S. Cummings of the New York Sun left Ogden for the coast yesterday.

The robbers of Hoxie's horses and mules escaped from Beaver jail. The Sheriff is in pursuit.

Hoxie is pushing towards Colorado river and will join the main party of Wheeler's expedition at Fort Wingate late in the season.

Capt. Jones' exploring party from Fort Bridger has reached the Yellowstone country. His line cuts off about two hundred miles from the railroad to Bozeman, Montana. The new route back promises to be still shorter and more feasible wagon road. No Indians have been encountered.

Gov. Woods to-day returned from Ogden.

Dr. Dickson, a New Yorker, was killed by a cave in Wyoming mine on American Fork yesterday.

NEVADA.

EUREKA, Sept. 2.—The case of Geo. Eudas, charged with the murder of James H. Oldfield, at Palisade June 14th, was on trial yesterday. The jury rendered a verdict of manslaughter, accompanied by a recommendation to mercy.

The trial of Daniel Mathews for the murder of Calvin Green, has been set for to-day.

[illegible]

[illegible]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—An Italian fishing boat, containing one man, capsized this evening. She righted but sunk, the mast remaining visible. The man clung to the wreck. The ferry boat Alameda went to him and proffered lines and life-preservers, but the fellow preferred to wait for the crew of a Whitehall boat, which came to his relief and got him and his boat safely ashore.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—A desperate fight occurred to-night in Leidesdorff street, between Mexican and Italian families, causing a great crowd to assemble. A report spread that two persons were murdered. The only damage was several heads badly cut. One woman was thrown into convulsions by the excitement. All parties to the fight are under arrest.

Chief Crowley and Mr. Cockrill are obliged to-night to conceal themselves to avoid a shameless crowd which surrounds their places of business for money. Such an exhibition as they make is a disgrace to the city.

The local news is slow and unimportant.

Interior California.

VISALIA, Sept. 2.—Sheriff Adams, of Santa Clara county, passed this place Sunday in pursuit of Vasquez's gang of murderers. Parties answering their description were seen crossing the plains ten miles south and avoiding traveled roads, about thirty six hours ahead of the officers. Later dispatches from Bakersfield say the Spaniards are supposed to be heading for Elizabeth Lake. Adams with a small party left Bakersfield last night in close pursuit, with every prospect of success. He expresses his determination to capture them or only leave them at the Mexican frontier.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 2.—The Indian who murdered Speck at Milquaty, has been captured across the line in Lower California. Three others implicated in the murder, are being pursued in Lower California, the authorities showing commendable activity in following up the outlaws.

Saturday night a cloud burst and filled Milquaty river to the depth of four feet, at which height it ran for about an hour.

Under Sheriff Tyner of Yuma, pursued two Mexicans, who murdered Lundy at Kenyon Station, Arizona, and overhauled them at New river. A skirmish ensued in which one Mexican was shot and captured. The other escaped. The pursuers are still on his track.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 2.—Early this morning Dr. S. S. Crane, while delirious from drink, cut his left arm in several places and then fired four shots from a revolver, which attracted attention, and a surgeon was summoned who sewed up his wounds.

YREKA, Sept. 2.—The political contest in Siskiyou county has been very spirited and earnest on both sides. The campaign closes to-night with largely attended meetings by both parties in this place. The Independents are being addressed by Duncan Cameron, J. S. Beard, Dr. Bowdern, F. H. Antenyeth and Calvin Edgerton. The Democrats by Hon. Wm. Irwin, Judge Shearer, J. Berry and others. Both parties seem sanguine of success, but the unprejudiced regard the result as uncertain.

TRUCKEE, Sept. 2.—F. W. Bourne, President of the Indian Treasure Mining Co., while on his way from Palisade to this place, had a hand satchel containing two thousand dollars in gold notes stolen. No clue to the thief.

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 2.—Sheriff Adams left early this morning with a posse of men. From a reliable source the Sheriff learned to-day that a portion of the Vasquez murderers, seven in number, were yesterday camped near the tules between Buena Vista and Kern Lakes, about 20 miles from this place, south. Adams and party have gone in that direction in hopes of getting ahead of them before reaching the mountains. Mr. Funk, who lives 30 miles from here, left this place ahead of Adams and party, and will as soon as he arrives at his ranch start vaqueros out on the robbers' trail and aid in the arrival of the Sheriff's party. It is thought that Vasquez is making toward Elizabeth Lake, where he has relations.

MR. MOTLEY'S ILLNESS.—The London Times of Aug. 9 contains the following announcement, which sets at rest the contradictory telegrams on the subject, and proves how little necessity there was for the publication of Mr. Motley's letters in one of our papers:

"It is with no ordinary satisfaction that we contradict the report which appeared in [illegible] that Mr. Motley, the great American historian and diplomatist, had been attacked by apoplexy, which had developed into paralysis. We have the best of all authority—that of Mr. Motley himself—for stating that the illness with which he was attacked, not at the Hague but in London—sixteen days ago, has none of the symptoms of apoplexy or paralysis, but is a severe and painful neuralgic affection from which he has now nearly recovered."

A VISIT TO VICTORIA

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

VICTORIA, Aug. 27, 1873.

THE TRIP FROM PORT TOWNSEND

The trip from Port Townsend to Victoria is of great interest. The [illegible] is a fine, [illegible] and safe steamer. She made the distance, about forty miles, in four hours, against a head wind and a strong tide. On leaving Port Townsend, Whidby Island, Admiralty Head lighthouse, Port Discovery, Protection Island and other points of interest are seen to considerable advantage. The Strait of Juan de Fuca, which is soon entered and crossed at an angle, is a large body of water and resembles more an open sea than a strait. As Vancouver Island is approached it presents a rocky and rather barren appearance, but as Oak Bay and Beacon Hill are reached the scene is greatly changed by improvements and cultivation.

THE HARBOR OF VICTORIA.

The entrance to the harbor is abrupt, winding and narrow; the harbor is small and rocky on each side, but safe and handsome. There is seventeen feet of water on the bar at high tide and vessels of 1,500 tons can enter. The number of coasting steamers at the wharves and the large and beautiful canoes moving about in the harbor present an animated appearance. A fine view of the town of Victoria is had from the harbor, all of which combined go to make a favorable impression on the mind of the visitor. A steam dredger is in active service on the bar and in the harbor.

THE TOWN OF VICTORIA

Is the chief city of Vancouver Island and the capital of British Columbia. It has now a resident population of not less than 3,600. This is the smallest number it has had since 1857. Victoria has went through a series of prosperous and adverse experiences. In 1858, when gold was discovered in Fraser river, the rush from all parts of the Pacific coast and the Canadian Provinces was great. There were not less than 15,000 people that year in this town. In a short time the tide turned and while a number made large amounts, thousands returned poor, having spent all their means seeking what they never found, which is the general history of nearly all gold fields. The population gradually and rapidly declined till 1861-2, during which years the gold mines in Cariboo were discovered, when the spring-tide of population again rose, to be succeeded by years of a low ebb. During the last seven years the gold mines have been greatly reduced in production; real estate has declined as much in value; improvements, public and private, have been very limited, the population greatly diminished, business and profits vastly curtailed, and the spirits of the people much depressed—hoping against hope that a good time will come some day. Business never was duller or less profitable in Victoria than it is at present. This, however, is a common experience all over the Pacific coast.

When British Columbia joined the Dominion of Canada in July, 1871, as one of its provinces, great expectations were held out as inducements to join the union. The Dominion Parliament promised the people of British Columbia that the Canadian Pacific railroad would be built immediately, the Pacific terminus of which was to be at Esquimalt Harbor, three miles from Victoria. A large graving dock was to be built at the same place, a marine hospital, a penitentiary, a postoffice, a custom house and great improvements in the rivers and harbors. In consequence of the corrupt conduct of Sir Hugh Allen, the contractor, and the supposed complicity of the Dominion Ministry, the commencement of the railroad is indefinitely postponed until the Royal Commission investigate the charges preferred against the Ministry. A partial amount of work on the postoffice has been done, but the work is suspended. The other promised public works are still in the future. These delays, especially the postponing of the railroad from which so much was anticipated, have dampened the spirits of all classes and depressed the energies of the mercantile and enterprising people of Victoria and the colony generally. It is hoped deferred.

Notwithstanding these disappointments and deferred hopes, the bankers, merchants and other public men of Victoria do not fold their arms and sit idly by. Although contractors may be corrupt and politicians tricky, there is stamina, pluck and public spirit enough in the British people to surmount the frauds of the former and the combinations of the latter. Victoria has a fair share of leading importing and jobbing merchants that would do credit to any town of its size for their business qualifications and financial ability. The Hudson Bay Company's warehouses, stores, wharves and shipping are prominent examples of this. The Bank of British Columbia and the Bank of British North America afford ample accommodation to, and facilities for buying exchange by the mercantile community. The Dominion Government Savings Bank holds out every legitimate inducement to encourage economical habits among the industrial classes by receiving small sums on interest, with ample security, free from the usual tricks of savings banks, well known to those who have experience in those establishments elsewhere. This savings bank now holds $400,000 of small deposits by the working people of Victoria.

The stores are numerous, large and elegant. The merchants are a superior class of men—dignified, agreeable in manner, and willing to communicate information freely. The upper classes, as seen on the streets, in their private residences and at public meetings, present the appearance of being educated and refined, and free from the stiffness usually attributed to English people. The rowdy and loafing elements are scarcely seen or felt in the town, and mob law is unknown. The laws are strictly enforced. The Indians and Chinamen are protected in their rights as much as white men are. The Judges are appointed by the Dominion Government, and the Justices of the Peace by the Lieutenant Governor of the Colony. These appointments are made for life, or good conduct. They cannot be bought as a speculation by which to make money, but are the result of fitness, high character and tried integrity; the consequences are the confidence in the administration of justice is firmly established, sure and swift punishment of the guilty follows. Americans would do well to mark, learn and inwardly digest these facts.

The streets on the outskirts of the town present the appearance of having seen better times, and as if consumption or wasting was the prevailing complaint among the small stores and residences of the people. The private residences of the merchants and professional gentlemen are extensive and elegant, surrounded with well cultivated gardens. The Driard and Colonial Hotels are large, and comfortable, as much so as any on the north side of San Francisco. The public buildings of the Colonial Parliament are convenient, plain and comfortable, built of brick and painted red. The Lieutenant Governor's office and the Executive Chamber is the center building, flanked by the House of Representatives, the Supreme Court and other buildings that make a square.

The history of Victoria and British Columbia, in common with other British Colonies, has been one of ups and downs in prosperity and adversity—but her responsible Government, the intelligence, energy and perseverance of the people, the resources of rich soil, fine climate, vast forests of the best of timber, almost inexhaustible coal beds, gold, silver, copper, iron and other valuable minerals and extensive fisheries will stand by her when corrupt contractors and crafty politicians are rotting in their graves.

The press is well and ably represented by the [illegible] and [illegible] daily newspapers. The public school system is founded on liberal principles, generally supported by the Government and highly appreciated by the public. The churches are numerous and influential for good, and separate from all Government control.

In the town of Victoria, Vancouver Island and British Columbia there is, so far as I have observed, but little harm, much of the best elements of society [illegible] religious [illegible] united in [illegible] and harmonizing for the public good.

THE HARBOR OF ESQUIMALT.

Although Victoria has a small, neat and safe harbor, Esquimalt is the real harbor of Vancouver Island. It is only three miles from Victoria. It has a wide entrance and deep water; it is land-locked and protected, and for the largest ship at all times is a [illegible]. The Hudson Bay Company and other extensive shippers send their large vessels into Esquimalt to either wholly or partially unload. Large quantities of goods are bonded at this port and afterwards, or at the time of discharging, brought round in small steamers to Victoria harbor. Esquimalt is the harbor for the British navy on the North Pacific coast. There are generally two or three ships of war stationed here. At present there are five. The flag ship Repulse has been in port but a short time and has attracted great attention from visitors. She is an iron-clad, has a battery of 12 nine ton guns, six deck guns and 500 officers and men. Her great size, enormous armament, and fine looking men and strict discipline make a favorable impression of the British naval service, and the attention paid to visitors manifests great politeness on the part of the officers and other officials.

What a conglomeration of religious bodies a great city is, is clearly illustrated by the latest statistics from Paris, which, it seems, contains 1,742,520 Catholics, 30,421 Israelites, 17,281 Calvinists, 14,940 Lutherans, 9,842 Anglicans, Methodists and Quakers, 422 Mohammedans, Buddhists and Brahmins; 2,500 persons who declared that they belonged to no religious sect, and two only who had the courage to confess that they were free-thinkers.

The Jewish Convention which recently met at Cincinnati, besides providing for the establishment of a theological school, reaffirmed the sanctity of Saturday as the day of worship. The convention exalted the Ten Commandments as the supreme guide of life, as the Jews universally hold them to be, but omitted any allusion to the coming Messiah, declaring the United States to be a glorious new land of promise for the Jewish race.

A Boston dispatch of August 25th says: The Hamilton Hall Committee, of which E. R. The address will support Washburn for re-election, and denounce the course of Butler.

Joseph P. Police, a poor mechanic of Atlanta, Georgia, has had a bewildering run of luck. He was lately summoned to the bedside of a bachelor uncle in Charleston, South Carolina, who drew from under his pillow $1,700 in cash, several gold watches and other valuables, which he presented to his surprised nephew. After the uncle's death Mr. Police found himself heir to the entire estate, valued at $52,000, to say nothing of $800 in gold that was discovered in a trunk, having been evidently forgotten by the old gentleman.

The Berlin correspondent of the Cologne Gazette says that the number of Protestant theological students in Germany has considerably diminished of late. Ten years ago there were 1,100 such students in six eastern provinces of Prussia, whereas during the past half year there are only 630; and a similar diminution is shown by the records of all German Universities. In Leipzig, Wurtemburg, and Baden, especially, it is found difficult to obtain a sufficient number of candidates to fill vacancies among the Protestant clergy. Dr. Messner, in a recent essay on the subject, attributes this decrease to the anti-ecclesiastical spirit of the time, to the lukewarmness with which religion is viewed even in families of the clergy, and to the contempt with which pious youths at German colleges are treated by their fellow students.

JOKE ON THE SNOBS.—The following story is from Bartlett Springs, for the truth of which we refer our readers to Harry Marker and P. George of Marysville. As is well known there are a number of small springs there possessing various qualities. The water in some is recommended for drinking purposes, in others for bathing, or for the cure of certain diseases, but the ones to which our narrative refers are a soda spring, the water of which is considered an excellent drink, and a spring recommended for the cure of corns. It seems that an old gentleman who was troubled with corns made it a practice to go to the latter spring every evening and give his corns a soak before turning in for the night under the impression that it was the corn spring. The aristocratic visitors likewise made it a practice to go to the soda spring and take a drink before retiring, which was usually a little after the old gentleman had got through soaking his corns. They were rather fastidious in their tastes and would very carefully rinse out the cup before taking a drink. But one evening, one of them happened to come down a little earlier than common and found the old gentleman soaking his corns as usual. The high toned chap indignantly demanded what he meant. "Ain't this the corn spring?" meekly inquired the old man. "Corn spring, be d—d! This is a soda spring." "Well," said the old man, "I thought there must be something wrong. I have been coming every night for a week and I couldn't see it helped my corns a bit." The upshot is that that spring has been neglected since that evening.—Sutter Banner August 23d.

The Pendletonian of the 30th ult. says: There was a party in town this week en route to the silver mine lately discovered by Mr. Dunlap of Weston to examine the ground. One of them is the agent of a leading capitalist and mining speculator of San Francisco. Some of the quartz has been assayed and went $4,000 and $8,000 to the ton. We understand that Mr. Dunlap has been offered $100,000 for the mine—and has refused the offer. Mr. Hurd, the capitalist, hinted at us on the way here to look at the ground, and when he prospects it thoroughly he will settle the whole business. If it turns out as great as they expect it will benefit Pendleton to a greater extent, it being about eighty miles from this place in Grant county. Then we will congratulate Mr. Dunlap on his good fortune—he is just the man who should have it."

The Salem Statesman of September 2d has this item: Last Saturday the friends of Rev. S. Bowers invited him and his family to call on a certain member of his congregation and spend the evening of that day. He did so. On his return home about 9 o'clock he was surprised to find some one had taken possession of his house, and on pushing his inquiry further he found a well filled table, where lots of good things were spread. A host of friends waited to welcome him and though he was somewhat surprised at first, didn't allow himself to be long embarrassed, but joined the company, determined to enjoy himself. In the course of the evening the party were all invited into the parlor where appropriate music was furnished, after which Mrs. Bowers was called up and presented by Mr. M. E. Chamberlain, on behalf of the members of the M. E. Church, in a fitting speech, with a purse containing $70 in coin. This was a much greater surprise, but we do not think Mr. or Mrs. Bowers feel very bad concerning it. When we learn that the salary of Mr. Bowers has been more than paid, we not only know the friendship the members of the congregation have for him, when they thus testify their appreciation of him. At a late hour the company dispersed all well pleased that they had spent the evening for so [illegible] a purpose.

THE TERRITORIES

Walla Walla wants water works.

The fall races at Boise City commence on the 22d of September.

The Corinne Reporter, which recently suspended, is about to reappear.

The houses in Salt Lake City are to be numbered and the system of the free delivery of the mails established.

A very large fresh vein of copper and silver ore has been recently discovered fifty miles south of Beaver, Utah.

Montana has this summer experienced more continued hot weather than any season for the past eight or ten years.

N. W. Garretson, Special Deputy, arrived at Walla Walla in the early part of last week and is now engaged in organizing Farmers' Granges throughout the county.

The paymaster was at Walla Walla last week, and now the soldier boys there are in funds. Some of them had not received any pay since going into the Modoc war.

A homestead association, with a capital of $200,000 has been organized in Salt Lake City to lay out and build a town on the opposite side of the river from Salt Lake City.

Last spring, we are informed, petroleum was running to waste in streams, that would, if cared for, yield fortunes, at Katmai Bay, on the east side of the Alaskan Peninsula, opposite Cape Kuliuyemut, Kodiak island.

According to the Walla Walla Statesman they have a spiritual medium up there who makes money by deluding people into the belief that she has received news from the "other side of Jordan," which would be very damaging if disclosed, but which she proposes to keep secret for a consideration.

Senor P. C. Armijo, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, is probably the most extensive sheep raiser in the world. His herd at the present time numbers over half a million. He supplies with mutton nearly all that section of country embraced within the Territories of Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Montana and the States of Kansas and Nebraska.

Grave apprehensions are entertained for the safety of the schooner Experiment which sailed in company with schooner Gen. Harney from Bellingham Bay for Steilacoom, with a cargo of stone for the penitentiary. The Harney has been in port several days, discharged her cargo, taken in another and discharged that, and still the Experiment has not yet arrived or been heard from.

The Walla Walla Statesman of last Saturday says: "A railroad meeting was held at Waitsburg, on Tuesday, at which Messrs. Denny and McGilvra presented the claims of the Seattle railroad. On Wednesday they held a meeting at Dayton, and here as at the previous place, there was a full attendance. Evidently our people are thoroughly aroused on the railroad question, but whether the Seattle plan will meet their views is yet to be determined."

At Hamla Bay, Alaska, quartz boulders, streaked with gold, have been found; whether very rich or very large we are not advised, but are informed that a Russo-German named Greeneberg has been on the ground for the past two years and says he intends to roll enough of these boulders together to build a ship and then quietly sail forth in search of a quartz mill. Hamla Bay is not on the [illegible]—which, perhaps, is a good thing for Greeneberg.

The Walla Walla Union of August 30th says: "Every team that is not engaged in something else is now hauling wheat to Wallula. In a short time the threshing will be a little further along and there will be still more wheat ready for market, and consequently a greater demand for teams. The price offered is about 20 cents per bushel—not enough to make the teamsters rich, still it is about as much as they can make in any other way, and is fully as much as the producer can afford to pay."

The grain in Walla Walla Valley is all cut except now and then a place that is unusually late, and threshing is progressing finely. On the Touchet the grain is about two weeks later, and consequently the farmers are right in the midst of their harvest, while threshing can only be said to have fairly commenced. On the Touchet the crops are equally as good as in any part of the valley. Mr. Fudge has just threshed the crop from his large farm, and his fields of grain, both wheat and oats, averaged just fifty bushels to the acre.

On Kenai Peninsula, Alaska, immense coal-beds exist. Walls of coal thirty to forty feet in height rise perpendicularly from the water's edge at Chugachik Bay, and a vessel may be loaded there with only the precaution to stand from under. A trader who visited the place says that the coal, so far as yet worked, is ligneous, but that old miners believe the quality will be found to improve when the substratum is reached. The surface pickings used thus far make a brilliant flame but are hardly a safe fuel for steamboats and manufactories on account of their [illegible] qualities.

A letter from Colfax, W. T., to the Union says: "A mill we greatly need and although it was hard for Saul to kick against the pricks, yet it will be harder still for Waitsburg to release us from the tribute we have been paying them; but for their edification or rather mortification I will simply say that a man of discretion and brains is now in Portland negotiating for machinery to build a mill at Colfax. We have offered to Touchet men the same inducements we give him, but they supposed they had a dead thing, and we would still have to patronize them for bread and feed our wheat to the hogs."

Alaska claims to have semi-tropical weather occasionally and entirely tropical musquitos. To a visitation of the latter kind is attributed the abandonment of very promising gold discoveries by "Rough Jim," an American miner, two years ago. Jim prospected on Skilkah river, Kenai Peninsula, and found splendid indications, but he was alone—perhaps an orphan—and unprotected, and when the young eagles (as he at first supposed them) came to the front he was compelled to retire. Upon reaching a settlement and being told that they were only Alaska musquitos his indignation knew no bounds. He was looking for a coat of mail at last accounts, but as the Postmaster General never worries himself about Alaska it is doubtful if he found one.

Prof. Hayden, writing on the 23d ult. from his camp on the west slopes of the Rocky Mountains, reports that his expedition had attained the summit of Mount Lincoln, and ascertained its elevation to be 14,300 feet. From this point at least fifteen mountains were seen which are 14,000 feet above the sea level, and two hundred and fifty having an altitude of 13,000 feet above tide water. While on the summit of Mt. Lincoln a distant peak was revealed which bears the name of the Holy Cross. It is computed to be 17,000 feet high. On its eastern face are two deep fissures crossing each other at right angles, making a perfect cross, and which at all seasons of the year are filled with snow. The mountain is believed to be the highest in North America.

The Salt Lake Tribune says: "The war being waged in the columns of our contemporary between the Methodist preacher and Mrs. Young's attorneys is interesting to lookers on. The parties are all respectable, could not be suspected of anything wrong, yet they bear up flattering testimony of each other. It is hardly a fair fight, three against one, but the preacher seems abundantly able to take care of himself. He keeps his temper, does not call names, and here he has the advantage of his adversaries. Mr. Stratton deals some telling blows and his attack is supported by an enfilading fire from the lady. It is a very pretty quarrel as it stands, but we must in candor confess that we want to see another round or two. The preacher is a perfect little game cock. The legal rooster is winded with his effort, and now is the time for him to pitch in."

A ROW IN A SPIRITUALIST MEETING.—The last Sunday afternoon meeting of the Philadelphia Spiritualists was the scene of a lively disturbance. The mother of the Woodhull-Claflin sisters made an excited speech on family matters, in which she frantically denounced Col. Blood. Then saying the Philadelphia Herald, a Miss Dumar rose, said she was an admirer of Victoria Woodhull. The last speaker had said that the doctrines of Woodhull should be repudiated by the Spiritualists—that they were no part of the belief of the sect—and that they invited the adverse criticism and the just censure of the world. Miss Dumar asserted that Mrs. Woodhull was alone responsible for her teachings, and was proceeding further in the demonstration of that point, when old Mrs. Claflin, her voice and body trembling with excitement, rushed up the centre aisle crying, "'Taint so! You lie! My daughters are not responsible for what they do or say."

The New York Journal of Commerce thinks the interval between the murder of General Canby and Mr. Thomas, and the execution of their murderers, so long, that the Modocs will stand some chance for commutation of the penalty. If the President really means hanging he must nerve himself to stand the assaults of all the sentimentalists in the country.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT 3, 1873

SOME PROPHESYING.

The Bulletin assails the Republicans of Washington county for daring, through their County Convention, to denounce what the Bulletin itself mentions as "Mr Mitchell's faults and follies (not to use a harsher name)," and adds the oracular prophecy that, if a "fight" is made against Mitchell in the State Convention, he will be "sustained by the Republican party." This is as cool piece of impudence as we recollect to have witnessed. The idea that a convention composed of delegates who represent scarcely as many constituents as they themselves number, and in most of the populous counties of the State were selected and then elected by the Custom House ring of this city and its recognized agents being the Republican party, or reflecting the sentiments of the party, is absurd. By a fiction that is supposed to be necessary to the preservation of party organizations, this Convention will represent the Republican party, but every man of common sense knows, and no one knows better than the editor of the Bulletin, that neither the Republican nor the Democratic Convention that is to be held soon, will, or possibly can, in fact represent any considerable portion of the people of the party. That this is the case, is no reason why the few persons whose opinions and purposes these conventions will truly reflect and carry out, are to be blamed. The body of the people in most of the counties thought best to remain in their stores, counting houses and harvest fields and left the politicians to set the campaign in motion; and they can not reasonably find fault with the work of the latter, when it is done. But the idea that they indorse every sentiment that may be uttered by these conventions, is carrying the fictitious representation just a little further than reason will justify.

What the Convention will do in case a "fight" is made against the fallen Senator, we neither know nor care to inquire. It is patent that the prediction of the Bulletin is simply another mode of threatening the minority of the Convention with the power of a "put up" majority, in case the minority don't keep mum in regard to the crimes of Hipple-Mitchell. Well, we shall see. Meanwhile, we submit a prediction to run along with that of the Bulletin: If the Republican State Convention "sustain" Hipple-Mitchell, by an affirmative resolution indorsing or condoning his seduction, embezzlement, elopement and bigamy—"faults and follies, to call them by no harsher names"—the candidate of the party will be beaten by at least one thousand votes, be he a Hippleite or not. There is not a man in the State who can carry such a load and there is not a man who has very much regard for his standing who would attempt it.

We hardly believe there will be any occasion to test the accuracy of our prediction of the power of the Bulletin's threat; but if it come to that, all will see how nearly correct is our estimate of the sentiments of the Republican party of this State.

TAKING THE RIGHT GROUND.

The Republicans of Polk county have exactly the right idea of the objects and ends of a political party. The administration of the Government upon sound principles, and for the best interests of the entire community, are the only justifiable purposes of a party organization, and when the party arrays itself in antagonism to these objects it deserves defeat. This is the meaning of the Iowa Republican platform, which was unanimously adopted by the Polk Republican Convention last Saturday. We have published this platform before, but we are sure it cannot be brought before our readers too often, and we gladly republish it, in connection with the proceedings of the Polk County Convention. The party is to be judged, says this platform, by the character of the men it puts forward as its representatives and the exponents of its principles. It will not do to say that the personal character of the candidate is a thing distinct from the principles he is chosen to carry out. Sensible people know that it is idle to expect good and wholesome public life from men who, in their individual or private life, are full of moral rottenness, and they will never consent long at a time to the choice of bad men simply because they are brought forward by a party whose political theories are deemed correct. So, this platform makes every man's conscience a tribunal to determine the question of his duty, and expressly declares it to be the duty of Republicans to vote against the nominees of their own party, if such nominees are grossly immoral or unfit for the positions to which they aspire.

We hope there will not be in the Republican party any occasion for the application of this rule, but in view of the rigors with which the party lash has been applied in times past, we can not but rejoice to see the party placing itself on high ground again. It begins to look like the return of the good old days when the best men were regarded as the most available candidates.

WHY?

We are asked to state why the Bulletin, which is so greatly exercised about the discouraging tendencies of the anti-ring Republicans, does not criticise the conduct of those delegates from Wapato precinct to the Washington Convention, who refused to go into the Convention with the delegates from other precincts. We do not care to answer the question categorically, but will state the facts, and leave the reader to figure out the answer, which we presume will not be difficult.

The Wapato delegates belong to the Railway ring, and when they found the other precincts had sent anti-ring delegates, they determined to bolt, and "went out to stand" accordingly. The Bulletin is the organ of the ring, and in sympathy with the Washington county bolters, as appears by the denouncement of the proceedings of the regular Convention. The Bulletin's position may be stated thus: it is opposed to all bolters and "disorganizers" who do not bolt and "disorganize" in the interest of the ring, and in favor of all who do.

THE CHARGES AGAINST MARSHAL BAZAINE

A Paris dispatch of August 25th gives the annexed summary of the charges against Marshal Bazaine. The commission has been preparing for this trial for many months, during which time the Marshal has been closely confined. At the head of this commission is Due D'Aumale, who, by purely princely accident and lapse of time, has become the first military General of France. A Paris correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, writing of the approaching trial, says: "The Duc D'Aumale sits in final judgment on a man like Bazaine (not a pretty man, certainly, not for anything that appears a gentleman, honest, honorable or passable, but a fighting man on the military side, incomparably superior to all of his present sham peers in this jury of Generals, who are not and can't be, his peers). Whether the Marshal be acquitted or condemned, the political trial is that of the Orleanists The Duc D'Aumale plays his whole pile on this Bazaine trial."

The text of the charges against the Marshal reads as follows:

First—With having capitulated with the enemy, and surrendered to him the fortress of Metz, of which he was the commander-in-chief, without having previously exhausted all means of defense.

Second—With having, in his capacity as chief of the army before Metz, in the open field, signed a capitulation, in consequence of which his troops were obliged to lay down their arms, and with not having done, before entering upon verbal or written negotiations, all that was prescribed to him to do by his duty and his honor, such being crimes punishable under Articles 209 and 210 of the Code of Justice Militaire.

The Articles here quoted are as follows:

Article 209. With death and military degradation shall be punished every Governor or commander who has, on trial by a Court-martial, been found guilty to have capitulated with the enemy and surrendered a place intrusted to him, without having previously exhausted all means of defense at his disposal, and without having done all that is prescribed to him to do by his duty and his honor.

Article 210. Every General and commander of armed troops who capitulates in the open field shall be punished—

First—With death and military degradation if, in consequence of such capitulation, his troops have to lay down their arms, and if, before entering on verbal or written negotiations, he has not done everything prescribed to him to do by his duty and his honor.

Second—With dismissal in all other cases.

The report on the charges has been drawn up by General Riviere, General Pourcet, who is to act as Government Commissioner at the trial, has already established his office at Compiegne.

It will be remembered that the Government has concluded to change the place of trial—Compiegne—on account of the lack of accommodations.

PLEASE DO NOT FORGET.

We have repeatedly called the attention of correspondents to the fact that in writing for the press they should not write on both sides of the paper. Many an article in a daily office finds its way to the waste basket instead of the types, being written on both sides of the paper, which, were it written on only one side, might appear in the next morning's issue. Correspondents may not perceive the reason for this, but people who know anything about printing understand how very inconvenient it is to get an article into type from a manuscript written all over the paper. We hope our contributors will not forget this, and we authorize one of them in particular to suspect, if he wants to, that his communication has been thrust aside for just this fault.

Our readers will remember that several weeks ago Hon. John P. Hale, of New Hampshire, fell and fractured a hip bone. Since that time he has been sinking rapidly, and at last accounts he was sightless and voiceless. The name of John P. Hale is familiar to the American public. Up to 1870 Mr. Hale had been in political life for well-nigh forty years. He entered the United States Senate in 1847, and served his State in that body for 16 years. Mr. Hale was the Freesoil candidate for Vice President in 1852, and shortly after the close of his long term as Senator he was appointed Minister to Spain. He is now 67 years of age.

Our correspondent does not approve of the conduct of the Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State in his selection of school books under the new law. While some things said in the communication we publish are, no doubt, true, it is also true that there are two sides to the question. As the whole subject is one that materially effects the entire State, and that, too, in a most vital interest—the education of the youth—we hope to see a full discussion of it.

OUR SALEM LETTER

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

SALEM, Sept. 1, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The weather for the last week has been as capricious as an old maid's temper, sometimes sunshine and warm then raining as if all the candidates for Congress in this State were weeping at once. For a short time there was a probability that the wheat crop would be injured, but the sun coming out warm obviated all danger on that score.

On last Saturday the two political parties held their

COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

The Democratic Convention was a stale affair, the time-honored privileges of orating and resolving, and reiterating that the eternal principles enunciated by Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson were entirely ignored, the names of these two great men were not once mentioned, and that there were no resolutions passed was a source of astonishment, especially to outsiders. Nothing was said about the "salary grab," "back pay steal," &c—the mum policy was rigidly enforced. The stone that Mr. Slater rolled into Mr. Nesmith's garden is a large sized boulder—in fact so much so that the unterrified Democracy is unable to decide how to get rid of it. There were not more than 18 or 20 delegates in all, who went through the routine with as little spirit as well could be found at any County Convention on the coast. To be sure that they would be represented pledges of attendance were required from the delegates that they would attend the State Convention, and as soon as they were elected the Convention adjourned. No pledges were required, although they were understood to be Nesmith men, and probably will go for him in a body. To see that everything went on according to the Democratic rules, the Governor was represented by his Private Secretary, the State Capitol Commissioner by General John F Miller, and last, but not least, the Penitentiary by the Superintendent, W H Watkinds. Your correspondent does not mean to say that they were delegates, but their presence was enough to restrain any overt act against any of its old musty rules.

THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

Was well attended, and among its proceedings were the adoption of some resolutions condemning the passage of the back-pay law of last Congress, these resolutions passed without a dissenting vote. A committee was appointed to make nominations, and all thus nominated were duly elected, but I noticed that one of them was a man who at the last Presidential election, voted for Mr Greeley and several of the precinct delegates were composed of that class of Republicans. The delegates are unpledged to any one of the candidates named to appear at the State Convention. But there did not appear to be an immense amount of enthusiasm.

The various papers that came by mail yesterday and to-day, contained resolutions in regard to John M. Hipple, that were passed in some of the county conventions, and the Hippleites were accordingly wrathy, and in the next letter the mighty Multnomah correspondent to the Bulletin "Capital," will give vent to his obtuse sarcasm and virtuous indignation.

The work on the

CAPITAL BUILDING

Is progressing moderately, and the stonework will be finished this week, and makes a very good appearance, there are about thirty men in all employed at present, but the vast amount of brick to be laid in the different walls, does not show as rapidly as a great many suppose that it should, until they inspect the work as it progresses, and it will be a fine opportunity for the Commissioners to put a large force of men to work next April and keep them until after the first Monday in June for election purposes, and the Democratic party will make a desperate struggle to carry this county for their party.

From a circular issued by the Superintendent of Common Schools for this State, it appears that the law requires that a series of text books be adopted by him and ordered to be used by all the Common Schools of this State, and the penalty for disobedience is the forfeiture of school money. The State Superintendent postponed the enforcement of this law from the 1st of October, 1873, to the 1st of March, 1874. The object of this is obvious, that there were any amount of good books amply comprehensive to the juvenile minds of this coast, could be found at any of the book stores, and could have been adopted. But there arrived a portion of a series of text books a few days ago, known as the

PACIFIC COAST SERIES,

Published by A. L. Bancroft & Co., San Francisco. The first three Readers are edited by A. W. Patterson, M. D., and the same author, I am told, is also to edit a Pacific Coast Spelling Book, while the fourth and fifth Readers of the same series are to be edited by Mr Sam L. Simpson, of this city, now in San Francisco. As this series have not all been published yet, it is evident that a postponement must be had for the express purpose of adopting this series. It is utterly impossible, so I am informed by practical printers, to publish school books on this coast, and sell them as cheap as they can be obtained from the East. The first Reader will cost at least 50 cents; second 75 cents, and the third $1 25, and all the rest in proportion, and will consequently entail an immense expense to the people of this State for a series of no more value than have been used heretofore. It looks as if this action of those in power were for the special benefit of Dr. Patterson and Mr. S. L. Simpson, and to gratify a sectional pride. A few thousand scholars must be supplied with a set of books written by citizens of this coast, and at a cost of many thousand dollars. It has been estimated to me that it would cost from $50,000 to $75,000 to supply one set for the common schools of this State, as a man who sends, say, four scholars, will have to pay at least $20 to get the required books, namely readers, speller, geography, arithmetic, etc., all for buncomb, and to compensate the extraordinary talent that our State possesses in writing school books. During the last war, some hair-brained, sectional idiot issued a series of Southern school books, which probably would have been adopted if the Southern Confederacy had been successful, but now we look upon them as literary curiosities; and I am inclined to think that thousands of teachers in the Eastern States would so regard this Pacific Coast series, when they are issued, and will pronounce the school authorities of this State a narrow-minded and sectional set. Evidently, it will have a tendency to injure the common school system and build up the different private institutions of learning, as this enormous and unnecessary expense will be resisted as far as practicable, and parents will send their children to those schools that do not require an entire new set at every change of the moon. Probably the Fourth Reader will contain literary gems from "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," by Mark Twain, "Luck of Roaring Camp" and "Heathen Chinee" by Bret Harte, or the "Lost Cabin" and poetical effusions by the author, S. L. S., or scraps of "History of the Modoc Indians," by Joaquin Miller, as a compensation for the great sacrifice. Well, we shall find out how the people will like it. 47.

A RULE THAT WORKS BUT ONE WAY.

One of Gen Butler's old veterans has made a very sharp thrust at him. It seems the veteran volunteered in 1862, when the sum of $100 was paid in bounty money. He received twenty-five dollars down and was to get the rest when mustered out of the service, if he remained two years in the field. After twenty months of campaigning he was mustered out as an enlisted man and mustered in as an officer, remaining in the service to the close of the war. The seventy-five dollars which he supposed due to him on his bounty, however, he never got, and when he wrote to his old commander about three years ago to inquire about it, he received the following answer:

You were not obliged to take your promotion. By taking it you received one hundred dollars per month, at least, more than your pay. Was not that an equivalent for your bounty? It has been so held by accounting officers, and I think justly.

This note is short, sharp and decisive. But the veteran has been reading Butler's defense of the increased salary and back pay measure, and he finds it impossible to make the logic of the two run together. Either Butler has changed—and that seems to the veteran impossible—or he ought to have had his back pay. There is a muddle somewhere

A Worcester (Mass.) dispatch of the 21st inst., says: Mechanics' Hall was crowded to listen to General Butler's opening speech of the campaign. His remarks were characterized by the loss of that vim which marked his efforts two years ago, but he has won considerable applause from his friends by his continued attacks on Judge Hoar and other Republicans.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 3, 1873

CITY.

Gone at Last.—After a protracted stay of many months, during which time it has received something less than a thousand and one paragraphs at the hands of the reporters of the daily press of Portland, the new dredger has at length disappeared from reportorial gaze and gone down the river. Besides carrying away a sufficient number of men to conduct the operations contemplated, the dredger took down some eight or ten cast-iron anchors for buoys. A number of large spar buoys were made last spring at the upper sawmill, which are intended to be placed at convenient intervals along the channel near Swan Island. These buoy anchors are designed to be attached securely to one end of the long timber and heaved overboard at the required point. The buoyancy of the wood causes the timber to maintain a vertical position, while the anchor sinks deep into the sand and holds the buoys firmly. Even during the highest stages of water the current cannot dislodge the buoys or cause them to shift about. A preliminary survey of the current of the lower Wallamet and Columbia rivers has just been completed by Capt. R. B. Randall, and the hydrography of the channel having been definitely ascertained, the dredger will begin operations at once. The lowest points along the rivers have been determined, and the necessary work for widening and deepening the shallow places in the channel will be prosecuted. The low stage of water and the superior facilities afforded by the new dredger will enable the work to progress with greater rapidity and to more purpose than formerly. Work having once begun will be crowded forward until winter rains renders a temporary suspension necessary.

Tile to Arrive.—Mr. Habersham received a dispatch, on Monday evening, from Mr. Parker, the contractor for laying the Stark street sewer, to the effect that he had completed arrangements for the immediate shipment to this city of 400 feet of tile from the manufactory at Buena Vista. This tile will probably arrive to-day. It will be laid down with all expedition immediately on its arrival here. This quantity of tile will be insufficient to reach from the point where the work was discontinued some weeks ago, in consequence of the supply on hand having been exhausted; but little more will be required to extend the sewer to the river. When the 400 feet has been laid, not more than 200 additional feet of tile will be necessary to finish the sewer. As the condition of Stark street, between First and the river, has been the cause of very general complaint, the public have reason to congratulate themselves upon the fact that there is an immediate prospect of having this abiding nuisance which has so long existed, removed. An ordinance has been passed by the Council for the improvement of this street. Not only will the sewer be laid, thus providing in coming time for the complete drainage of the street from Sixth down to the low water mark at the ferry landing, but the street will be handsomely improved by the laying of Nicolson pavement and new sidewalks for the distance of two blocks and the width of the intersecting streets.

Quantities of Wheat.—Harvesting east of the mountains has about concluded, and farmers are busily engaged in threshing their grain and preparing for its shipment to market. Portland being the principal entrepot for which, previous to its shipment to foreign markets, grain is beginning to pour in from Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory, in large quantities. As yet the bulk of the wheat shipment has not commenced, although a considerable amount has already been received by way of the Columbia. Shipments of wheat are made nearly every day for the agricultural regions beyond the mountains. Within a fortnight those ... will commence to return filled with the golden products of the fertile fields of Eastern Oregon. At the prevailing low stage of water on the Columbia between Wallula and Celilo, and the very large quantities of grain which will be awaiting shipment to this city during the fall months, it is not improbable that the O. S. N. Co. will put on an extra boat to answer the requirements of trade. If such a course will be decided upon, the boat will only continue to run just while the great rush of grain lasts. The grain crop all over the State the present year has been unprecedentedly large, and we shall expect to witness an unusually active movement among the grain merchants and the producers.

Under Arrest.—Mr. E. Ross, of Oswego, was arrested on Monday, on a charge of arson, preferred by Mr. John Jones, a resident of Portland. Ross is charged with having set fire to the sawmill, that formerly stood near the Macadamized road, which was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday night. Both Ross and Jones, it appears, had been engaged in litigation for some time as to which was entitled to the possession of the mill. Last Saturday the case came up before Justice Davis. It was decided adversely to Ross, the Court holding that Jones was entitled to the possession of the property. On the night of the same day on which the matter was settled, the mill was burned. The circumstantial evidence Jones thought sufficiently strong against Ross to procure his conviction, and a complaint was sworn out on Monday. Ross was taken into custody, but admitted to bail for his appearance in the sum of $1,000. Yesterday, the preliminary trial came up in the Police court. After a hearing in the matter, the court took the case under advisement until this morning, when the defendant will either be held to answer the charge before the grand jury or discharged.

Handy to Have.—We were shown yesterday by Mr. J. K. Gill, bookseller, a set of tables which are adapted to save a great amount of labor to all persons engaged in buying and selling gold and currency. They consist of two sets of computations put up in convenient book form, one set showing the amount of currency that may be purchased for a given amount of coin from 1 cent up, at any rate from 80 to 99½ cents, and the other set an exactly reciprocal one for the purchase of coin with currency. The process of making these computations is simple, but the labor it involves in a large number of transactions is by no means inconsiderable. We should think every person whose employment requires that such calculations be made, would go to Gill's and possess himself of the figures already ciphered out.

Tied Up.—The Museum and Menagerie which has accompanied the circus in its meanderings through the State, and which was on exhibition last Sunday at the East Portland Park has, it appears, been involved in vexatious litigation, and at present is, to all intents and purposes, "tied up." It fell into the clutches of the "minions of the law" on Monday morning for debt. The owner being unable to liquidate, was compelled to temporarily retire from the show business. All day Monday, and until early yesterday morning, the wagons, pavilion, cages, beasts, snakes, monkeys and birds, were camped out on the east side near the ferry landing. How the little financial cloud, which hung like a modest sized pall over the concern has been dispelled, we are totally unable to state for the benefit of our readers.

Melons—Tomatoes.—That portion of the State lying east of the Cascade range is most prolific in the production of not only peaches, but also watermelons, cantaloupes and tomatoes, if we are to judge from the heavy shipments made from those regions of the articles mentioned. Every year a large proportion of the peaches, water and muskmelons which are shipped to this city, come from the eastern part of Oregon. This season constitutes no exception to former ones. Almost every day quantities of these delicious commodities arrive by the Dalles boat. On Monday evening three car loads of cantaloupes, watermelons and tomatoes came down. A considerable quantity of peaches also arrived.

Ready to Sail.—The barkentine Webfoot has completed a cargo of 400,000 feet of lumber for San Francisco, and the schooner Superior 200,000 feet for the same destination. The brig Orient has just completed taking on board 160 tons of railroad iron and 200,000 feet of lumber for San Francisco. These three vessels will pass to sea the first favorable opportunity.

Still Aground.—The bark Privateer which ran aground opposite St. Helens while in tow of the Astoria, had not been got off as the Emma Hayward came up the river yesterday. The Otago which did not get aground, was towed on up and arrived at this port late last evening.

To Visit the Fair.—A meeting was held by Multnomah Engine Company No. 2, on Monday evening. It was resolved that the company visit the State Fair and take along the large new Silsby steam fire engine. The company also determined to procure a new and appropriate uniform, in which to appear on the occasion of the visit. Yesterday a dispatch was sent to New York, ordering 75 new hats and belts. These are expected to arrive here in a few weeks. New shirts, in the meantime, will be made in the city, and be finished by the time the belts and hats are received.

Returned.—The United States lighthouse tender Shubrick, which was at this port a few weeks since, bound for a trip to the northern coast, returned to San Francisco a day or so ago, she having completed her cruise to the various lighthouses and fog stations on the North Pacific Coast. She called at Shoalwater Bay on the 12th, Tatoosh on the 19th, where the boiler of the steam fog-signal there was cemented; went next to Victoria and other points, returning to Port Townsend on the 24th.

On the Way.—The schooner Hera left Astoria yesterday morning bound for Portland. She will probably arrive here to-day, and after discharging cargo will load with staves, salmon and flour for San Francisco.

PERSONAL.

Hon. W. W. Bristow of Eugene is visiting this city.

Dr. Hatch and Chas. E. Calef, Esq., are summering at Clatsop.

Capt. I. Friedman, formerly of this city, is residing in San Francisco.

Hon. A. A. Denny, of Washington Territory, is a guest at the Cosmopolitan Hotel.

Mr. J. H. Garrigan, of East Portland, took his departure on the last steamer for California.

Harry McCormick, eldest son of S. J. McCormick, Esq., is attending the Military School at Oakland, California.

T. McF. Patton, Grand Master of Oregon, goes over to attend the Grand Lodge of Washington Territory to-day.

A. C. McDougall, well known in this State among temperance circles, arrived yesterday in the city from Hollister, California.

S. A. Clark, Esq., arrived last evening on the steamer from San Francisco, whither he went three weeks since on business.

Mr. Rutter, a ship carpenter, who has resided in this city for some time, has lately removed to Astoria with a view of permanent residence.

Capt. Gage, the well known and popular master of the barkentine Webfoot, will assume command of the new craft Portland, which was launched at Coos Bay a few days ago.

Looney C. Bond, Esq., of Waitsburg, W. T., is in Portland, on his way to Olympia, to attend the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Masons of the Territory, which meets to-day.

This morning the Rosedale Theatrical Troupe, composed of Robert Fulford and wife, Miss Minnie Pixley, Mr. R. Clinton, and several others, will start up the Columbia river on a professional tour. They will extend their trip as far as Walla Walla, visiting the various towns and villages of Eastern Oregon. Arrangements have been made by Mr. Fulford to open a brief theatrical season during the State Fair. The troupe will therefore return to Portland in time for the Fair.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Cattle still arrive from the Dalles.

Cool nights may be expected, as August is past.

Tinners are at work on the cabin roof of the Beaver.

W. R. T. Co.'s boats now tie up at Carter's new wharf.

Sitka steamer sailed last evening for her destination.

Weekly consultation by the City Fathers this evening.

Philip Phillips, the "Sweet Singer," is en route for the East.

The "dog days" for 1873, are among the things of the past.

Last of the series of Madame Anna Bishop's concerts this evening.

The bark Clara Louise will soon take the name of Matty Macleay.

The new steamer Beaver is lying at Flanders' wharf, receiving her machinery.

The new fire engines are expected to arrive by the last of the present month.

Charley Brown is again putting up his lead pipes to be used in his refrigerator.

Some needed repairs are being made to the wharf at the foot of Washington street.

Plasterers are again engaged in putting on another coat of plaster in the Clarendon Hotel.

The Hawaiian bark Chocola sailed from San Francisco on the 29th ult. for Callao via Astoria.

Great bustle on the streets last evening, occasioned by the arrival of the San Francisco steamer.

Wm. W. Smith has just received the appointment of Postmaster at East Portland, vice Dan Raffety.

The large area of ground between the Clarendon Hotel and Steamship Company's office has been filled up to the established grade.

OUT DOOR SPORTS.

What of the cricket club?

The tournament will be a success, providing the thing is kept alive.

No word from the College Club to the Pioneers. What is the matter?

Return game between the the Pioneers and picked nine on the 13th inst.

What about the game between the first and second nines of the Pioneer Club? Let us have it played before the season is over.

The members of the four old cat club will meet this evening at the Bank Exchange. They are to consider the propriety of playing a game at an early day.

A game of base ball was played in Missouri the other day, in which one club made 105 runs to its opponents' 17, and the Umpire called the game on the fifth inning—the thing was getting a little monotonous. The game of last Saturday was the nearest approach to the above we have heard of in Oregon.

THE COURTS.

HALLET, DAVIS & CO. PIANOS.

The Olympia Transcript of August 30 says: "The magnificent piano used at Madame Bishop's concert, is a 7⅓ octave square grand Hallett & Davis, which has been placed in Columbia Hall, to permanently remain there in charge of Mr. J. M. Hays, for the accommodation of concert players and theatrical performers. It is specially noted for its rich and brilliant tone. Every note from the lower bass to the upper treble can be distinctly heard throughout the hall." W. R. Badger is the sole agent for these celebrated pianos, 111 Third street.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

E. Gerson can be found at S. L. Stone's old stand, 108 First street. He keeps good cigars and tobacco.

J. M. Fryer can be found in his new store on First street, between Madison and Jefferson. He desires to see all his old customers, especially those who are indebted to him.

POLK COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Pursuant to call of the County Committee the delegates from the several precincts met at Dallas on the 30th ult., and organized by electing McM. Dodson, Chairman; B. F. Nichols, Secretary, and J. W. Hobart, Assistant Secretary.

After the usual report of the Committee on Credentials etc., C. Lafollett read the resolutions adopted by the State Convention of Iowa, and moved that they be endorsed by this convention, whereupon they were read by sections and unanimously adopted. They are as follows:

Resolved, 1. That proud as we are of the past record of the Republican party, we yet insist that it shall not rely upon its past achievements. It must be a party of the present and of progress, and as it has preserved the Union, freed the slave and protected him from the oppression of the slave master, it will now be derelict to its spirit and its duty if it does not protect all of our people from all forms of oppression, whether by monopolies, centralized capital, or whatever kind the oppression may be.

2. That we insist upon the right and duty of the State to control every franchise of whatever kind it grants; and while we do not wish that any injustice shall be done to the individual or corporation investing capital or industry in enterprises of this kind, we yet demand that no franchise shall be granted which is prejudicial to the public interests, or in which the rights and interests of the State and the people are not carefully and fully guarded.

3. That the producing, commercial and industrial interests of the country should have the best and cheapest modes of transportation possible, and while the actual capital invested in such means of transit, whether by railway or otherwise, should be permitted the right of reasonable remuneration, and abuse in their management, excessive rates, oppressive discrimination against localities, persons or interests, should be corrected by law—we demand Congressional and Legislative enactments that will control and regulate the railways of the country, give to the people fair rates of transportation, and protect them against existing abuses.

4. That we heartily applaud the active measures of the late Congress in ferreting out and exposing corruption. We have seen with profound regret in the developments made thereby evidences of political and official corruption and the abuse of responsible positions by men of all political parties to further personal ends, and we demand pure official conduct and the punishment of unfaithful public men, who having betrayed the confidence freely extended to them, shall not be shielded from the disgrace of their acts by partisanship of ours, and we denounce all the Credit Mobilier transactions and all official misconduct of whatever form.

5. That we believe that whenever a person holding any position of trust given him by the people is guilty of fraud or embezzlement, he shall be convicted and punished under the criminal laws of our land in addition to the recovery from him or his bondsmen of the amount so embezzled.

6. That the acts of the majority of the members of the last Congress, involving what is known as "the back pay steal," by which they voted into their pockets thousands of dollars which did not belong them, was most flagrantly improper and infamous, and should secure the condemnation of all who were a party to it, and we demand that the provisions of the late act of Congress by which the salaries were increased shall be promptly and unconditionally repealed.

7. That we are desirous of political reform, and for honest economy and purity in all official administration; that to secure this is the duty of every citizen; that to this end every good man should feel bound to participate in politics, and to make an end of the bad men forcing their election by securing a party nomination. We declare it the duty of every Republican to oppose the election of a bad man and incompetent candidate, whether he be a candidate upon our own or any other ticket.

8. That we sympathize with every movement to secure for agriculture and labor their due influence, interests, and rights, and the Republican party will be their ally in every just effort to attain that end.

McM. Dodson, B. F. Nichols, G. Shurtliff and Isaac Smith were elected delegates to the State Convention.

A resolution was passed requesting the OREGONIAN and Statesman to publish the proceedings of this Convention. Adjourned.

McM. DODSON, Chairman.

B. F. NICHOLS, Secretary.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.

Affairs at the Garrison are on the wane. A portion of the officers and men have left for Walla Walla, where they will remain for the winter. Colonel Mason goes to Sitka on the California, to attend a general court-martial, and also on special duty of inspection. He will probably spend the winter at that post.

On Saturday last Mr. H. H. Learned, while feeding a thresher, was severely cut in the arm near the wrist by the "band cutter," the knife severing an artery. He bled profusely, but by keeping his thumb pressed upon the artery above the wound, for several hours, till surgical aid could be procured, he saved himself from bleeding to death. He is now in a fair way of recovery.

At a meeting of the Board of Managers of the Agricultural Society, held last Saturday, it was decided to hold a Fair in October, probably during the week following the Oregon State Fair. The officers of the Society have been very dilatory this season, but the farmers of the county are in earnest and intend to make this the best Fair ever held in the county. They certainly have the materials for it, and it is to be hoped they will make a showing that will be a credit to the Valley of the Columbia.

CARD.

PORTLAND, Sept. 2, 1873.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:—I desire through your columns to acknowledge my gratitude to DR. ROSENCK for his great skill as a physician, in curing my child of sickness of two-and-a-half years duration, during which time I had employed different physicians, who did it no good. Within three months after the Doctor took charge of the case, the child recovered and is as well as ever. His fees for his services were very reasonable. H. FLECKENSTEIN.

TO THE PUBLIC.

We are now getting on the way a new and fresh stock of fine furniture, which will be superior in quality and newer in design than the one destroyed by the fire, and which we will offer for sale on advantageous terms. Meanwhile, we are well prepared to supply the present demand from our temporary location, corner of Fifth and Taylor streets, near the U. S. Custom House. Respectfully,

HURGREN & SHINDLER.

No man should be without a good suit of clothing while BECK & WALDMAN are offering goods at remarkably low prices. You will be astonished when you take a look at their stock which has been and is being increased to such an extent that more space must be had to give place to the new arrivals. Don't wait, but improve the opportunity to invest at the present time. You will never regret your purchases of Beck & Waldman, S. W. cor. of Washington and Front streets.

Edward Bayer, Esq., Horton, Kings Co., N. S., writes that an astonishing cure has been effected on his daughter by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The whole spine became diseased, she lost the use of her limbs and her back was rounded up like a bow, in consequence of having taken cold after having been inoculated for the kine pock. She is now well.

"FINE FUN."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

One of your contemporaries gave us an account the other morning of an occurrence in our city which, though not of a very grave character, has the elements in it of that which, in the judgment of many of our most intelligent citizens, is a great evil, and which, if not restrained, will surely bring disgrace to our people and serious damage to all our interests. An industrious Chinaman, who wished to obtain a place in which to carry on his washing, after the fire, and to fulfill his obligations to those who had entrusted him with their property, was cruelly "fooled" by an "American citizen," into occupying a building over which said American citizen had no control whatever, and who had no nobler employment or spirit than to play a costly practical joke upon the industrious, unsuspecting and defenceless Chinaman. He had hardly taken possession of the quarters, which he supposed he had rightly gained, and begun his work, when the real owner of the premises came along, and regarding him as an intruder, pitched him and his chattels into the street, much to the consternation of the poor Chinaman and to the damage of his goods.

Now, all the comment that the enlightened historian of this affair has to make is, that "the bystanders enjoyed the fun vastly." Here was a wanton and cruel piece of mischief, perpetrated upon an ignorant, unsuspecting, industrious Chinaman, by some idle, unfeeling and cowardly white man, and all that other men—bystanders and reporters—can do, is to "enjoy the fun."

This is the spirit, Mr. Editor, which is disgracing this city and the community in the eyes of all the intelligent, unprejudiced people of the land. Is there no one who will raise a voice against it? The absurd and senseless things said against "Chinese labor" makes their authors the laughing stock of all enlightened business men and political economists in the country. Such nonsense might have done in past ages of ignorance and stupidity, but it can make no impression on the thinking people of this generation. Let us not add to our disgrace by making the press of this city even to appear in sympathy with it, by publishing such articles as this referred to. We are now looking abroad for help in the great loss we have sustained by the recent fire, and it is proposed to send agents East to borrow money with which to rebuild our city. Think you it will help to raise our credit with Eastern capitalists, to know how a wanton and lawless spirit like this can go unrebuked? Will it add much to the value of our securities abroad for it to be known that a crowd of Portland's citizens can stand by and see a poor Chinaman violently ejected from a place into which he was cruelly deluded by one of said citizens, and have no emotions but those of pleasure, at the "fun" of the thing? A very natural question for these capitalists to ask would be: "How long will this spirit wait to make a second holocaust of the buildings in which our money is to be invested. What would be said and thought of this affair if the parties were changed, and an American citizen had been so treated, just for the fun of the thing, in Canton or Macao?" It is high time we were done with this, and that we no more disgraced ourselves in the eyes of the civilized world.

CITIZEN.

We pledge our reputation on the assertion that any educated physician, after a careful examination of the recipe, will say that Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pills possess more merit than any other pill now offered for sale.

COLEMAN'S Dr. J. S. Coleman's Condensed Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation containing all the valuable medical qualities EUCALYPTUS the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medical utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the Generative organs and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy, and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless febrifuge, and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies of those diseases are entirely avoided.

FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1-lb bottles.

EUCALYPTUS Beware of imitations, and take none but COLEMAN'S. For sale everywhere, and by HODGE, CALEF & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Portland. Sole Agents for Oregon.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 3, 1873

REMEMBRANCE.

BY EMILY BRONTE.

Cold in the earth—and the deep snow piled above thee,
Far, far removed, cold in the dreary grave!
Have I forgot, my only Love, to love thee,
Severed at last by Time's all-severing wave?

Now, when alone, do my thoughts no longer hover
Over the mountains on that northern shore,
Beating their wings where heath and fern leaves cover
Thy noble heart forever—evermore?

Cold in the grave and fifteen wild Decembers
From those brown hills have melted into spring;
Faithful indeed [illegible]
[illegible]

Sweet love of youth, forgive, if I forget thee,
While the world's tide is bearing me along;
[illegible] desires and [illegible] hopes beset me,
Hopes which [illegible] cannot do thee wrong!

No later light has lightened up my heaven,
No second morn has ever shone for me;
All my life's bliss from thy dear life was given,
All my life's bliss is in the grave with thee.

But when the days of golden dreams had perished,
And even despair was powerless to destroy,
Then did I learn how existence could be cherished,
Strengthened and fed without the aid of joy.

Then did I check the tears of useless passion—
Weaned my young soul from yearning after thine;
Sternly denied its burning wish to hasten
Down to that tomb already more than mine.

And, even yet, I dare not let it languish,
Dare not indulge in memory's rapturous pain;
Once drinking deep of that divinest anguish,
How could I seek the empty world again?

INDIAN SLAUGHTER.

THE GREAT BATTLE IN THE REPUBLICAN VALLEY—BLOODY FIGHT BETWEEN THE PAWNEES AND SIOUX—HORRIBLE BARBARITY OF THE SIOUX.

[Cor. of the N. Y. Herald.

GRAND ISLAND (Neb.) August 8, 1873.—Some two or three weeks ago the Pawnees, numbering some 800 strong, with squaws and pappooses and 600 ponies, started from their reservation for their annual hunt in the Great Republican Valley. After reaching their hunting grounds and while pursuing their wild yet peaceful avocation, they were suddenly surprised and attacked by some 1,500 Sioux, under the command of Young Spotted Tail. The fight occurred between the Republican River and Black Wood Creek. It was a long and stubborn fight, but the Pawnees were forced to retreat before a superior number.

When the Pawnees were informed that there was a strong force of the Sioux in their front, they immediately hurried their squaws and pappooses to a deep canyon or ravine for safety, and then struck out on the prairie, in the presence of their deadliest foe, to oppose their advance and protect the sheltered ones by taking the chances of a battle.

The Sioux were splendidly armed and equipped. The Pawnees were not, having but few rifles with them, as it is their custom to use the bow and arrow with their revolvers, because easier handled on the hunt when in close contact with the buffalo. The Pawnee warriors soon learned that they were not equal in the fight. The odds being desperate, and being no match for the Sioux with their line Henry rifles and carbines, they were forced back, and that so rapidly that they could not save their squaws and pappooses, for the foe had succeeded in getting between them and the Pawnees, who with desperate valor disputed inch by inch the ground on which they fought. The Sioux, like sprang upon the defenseless ones in the canyon and butchered them without mercy, for the stern resistance of the few brave Pawnees had aroused their revengeful ire and called into action all the bloody instincts and barbarity of their nature, braining and scalping the squaws, and plunging their long knives into the bodies of the pappooses and hurling them into the flames of the burning camp-fires.

BLOODY TIGERS, THIRSTY AND FEROCIOUS,

Sky Chief, one of the most brave and daring of the Pawnee tribe, with his squaw and pappoose, fell a victim to the Sioux onslaught and thirst for blood. By nature he was endowed with qualities that made him great among his people; a natural orator, whose voice was heard in the interest of his tribe at the council fire, as many a government official can attest, and he was a firm friend of the white man.

The Sioux followed the Pawnees on their retreat with a running fight of twenty-five miles, lasting some ten hours. All this occurred within one hundred and twenty miles of the city of Grand Island.

The surviving Pawnees, with their wounded, passed east, [illegible] this city on freight train No. 8, en route for their reservation, with grief, notwithstanding their stoical indifference, written on every lineament of their faces. A number of the Sioux were made to bite the dust, though even an approximation to the amount will probably never be known.

THE PAWNEES

Had been very successful in their hunt, and were just contemplating turning their faces homeward, having already killed more than five hundred buffaloes. This is a terrible and crushing blow to the tribe, from which they can never recover, for their loss was over one hundred in killed and wounded, besides half of their ponies falling into the hands of the enemy. It was the most

DESPERATE AND BLOODY FIGHT

That has occurred between the tribes on the frontier in years. This loss of warriors makes a large gap in the tribe. But let the Sioux beware [illegible] the Pawnees' [illegible], for when they recover and are in heart again and properly armed, one hundred Pawnee warriors would put a thousand Sioux to rout.

It is a well known fact in this country that [illegible] three months the Pawnees have been seeking friendly negotiations with the Sioux, but the latter, for reasons better known, perhaps, to their chiefs, kept out of their way or would not meet them. It is thought and very justly, too, by many on the frontier that this surprise in the Republican Valley was all premeditated and prearranged by the crafty cunning of

THE TREACHEROUS SPOTTED TAIL,

Who was absent, and not with his tribe on the big hunt, his son being in command, and then the new arms and ammunition, recently or at the [illegible] demanded of and complied with by the Government, tended toward the fatal results which have proved so disastrous to the Pawnees.

Many of the old settlers in this country, who have lived here many years, feel that the officials under the Government of these United States are reprehensible, and deserve honest censure in allowing these tribes to leave their reservations and hunt in such close proximity with each other, without the presence of an armed force sufficient to keep them from collision, for the homes of the settlers on the border are imperilled when their wild passions are aroused.

These annual hunts are pursued by the different tribes for the purpose of obtaining skins and meat for apparel and subsistence, whereby they obtain the buffalo beef, which the squaws dry by the fires while the warriors hunt, and which forms a large share of their living during the winter months. The Government of [illegible] are not ignorant of the Sioux's deadly enmity and hate against the Pawnee tribe, and cherished with a ferocity and bitterness more intense from the relations they formerly sustained toward the Government when employed to protect the frontier and the plains from the encroachments of the Sioux tribe, for many of the Pawnees were United States soldiers. Although treaties have been effected with the Sioux nation through her great chiefs Red Cloud, Spotted Tail and others, yet they would not hesitate—as in the opinion of settlers—if they but dared to

SPRING UPON THE SETTLEMENTS

With the same ferocity they attacked the Pawnees, with all their pretended friendship for the whites. An old frontiersman was at [illegible] yesterday, and dilating on the bloody massacre gave expression to the following: We of the frontier somewhat different from those Eastern pampered philanthropists would not trust them any sooner than we would the poisonous rattlesnake we meet in our path, notwithstanding all their protestations of friendship to the Government and the white man, but would kill rather than give them a chance to scalp. The early settlers on our border have but little love for the Sioux, but regard them as treacherous and ferocious, for many of them have suffered in former times from their cruelty and barbarity.

The bronze statue of Thomas Jefferson, which has stood in front of the executive mansion at Washington for these many years, has been removed to a plat on the east side of the [illegible] and General Babcock is going to have a [illegible] home fountain erected where it formerly stood.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

TUESDAY EVENING, September 2, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day 11 1/4.

Portland Legal Tender rates 8½ buying, 86½ selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California 12s 10d; Club 1[illegible]s.

From time to time we find in our Oregon exchanges [illegible] repeal of the specific contract law [illegible] that its operation is unfavorable to [illegible] commercial interest and that it deters [illegible] from [illegible] which [illegible] of legal tender [illegible] because when they come they find that they must suffer a discount of from [illegible] per cent on their kind of money. This [illegible] borne out, as [illegible] fact appears [illegible] tion, but it is so in appearance only. For no matter what [illegible] will find that [illegible] with his one [illegible] method to the [illegible] of greenbacks as the basis [illegible] attended with [illegible] taken into [illegible] come accustomed to [illegible] Were [illegible] legal tenders made the basis of home business, what we now pay $100 for, but our coin would be worth just the $100 currency. In fact the whole change implies but little more than making our [illegible] greenbacks an article of merchandise to be manipulated by cliques and sharpers, and as the greater proportion of our money [illegible] the effect of these manipulations would so much the more extensively influence our financial market.

The month begins with fair prospects in monetary matters, and the belief is generally entertained that a reasonable amount of ease in our local finances will prevail during the most of the fall. Owing to the high price at which wheat is now held exporters are somewhat backward, and the demand for funds to move the crop is slow in setting in. The vessels now due or shortly to become due here, however, must have cargoes, when not already secured, and the money to purchase the grain can be secured quite readily.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Market still under [illegible] excitement, buyers are anxious to secure lots, but [illegible] the greater part of holders who want $1 70 per cental. Some transactions are noticed at that figure.

FLOUR—Market firm at $5 50 for best, to $6 [illegible] bbl for superfine and good country brands.

OATS—Some lots of the new crop coming to hand and selling at [illegible] cents ⅌ bushel, sacked.

HAY—Good baled timothy quotable at $[illegible] ⅌ ton, loose $[illegible].

BARLEY—Quiet at $1 40a1 45 ⅌ 100 pounds.

FEED—With a fair local demand prices are firm at our last quotations.

POTATOES—The market is well supplied at 50a60 cents ⅌ bushel.

APPLES—We quote choice lots at [illegible] ⅌ box, loose from wagons, 1 cent per lb.

EGGS—The liming process for preserving eggs has been used on some lots now coming to market. It saves and spoils the product at the same time. Saved in this way they will not [illegible] unfit for table use. We quote fresh receipts at [illegible] cents per dozen.

CHICKENS—Grown are quotable at $4 per dozen, spring $2 50[illegible].

BUTTER—Supply good at our last quotation.

BACON—With a fair demand, prices are firmer, but no positive advance on the figures we last gave is yet noticed.

HIDES—We note a quiet but steady demand at 6a7c ⅌ lb for green, 7a8c for salt, and 14a15c for dry.

WOOL—Some inquiry is made, and for best lots we believe 25 cents ⅌ lb could be obtained.

Shipping Intelligence.

The bark Lieut. Maury, after receiving 110 tons more wheat at Astoria, cleared for Cork last Monday. Her whole cargo amounts to 618¾ tons wheat, 20,411 bushels, valued at $22,500.

The steamship John L. Stephens, from San Francisco, arrived at 7 o'clock this evening.

The Privateer, under charter to Rogers, Meyer & Co. to load with wheat for England, has arrived. She comes in ballast from Acapulco.

The Otago, a wheat vessel under charter to Janion & Rhodes, is still at some point down the river.

The Windermere is under charter to F. Morgan & Sons instead of Janion & Rhodes, as heretofore reported. She had not reached Astoria at last accounts.

IS PURELY A VEGETABLE PREPARATION, composed simply of well known ROOTS, HERBS and FRUITS, combined with other properties, which in their nature are Cathartic, Aperient, Nutritious, Diuretic, Alterative and Anti-Bilious. The whole is preserved in a sufficient quantity of spirit from the SUGAR CANE to keep them in any climate, which makes the

PLANTATION BITTERS

one of the most desirable Tonics and Cathartics in the world. They are intended strictly as a only to be used as a medicine, and always according to directions.

Domestic Tonic,

They are the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. They act upon a diseased liver, and stimulate to such a degree, that a healthy action is at once brought about. As a remedy to which Women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. As a Spring and Summer Tonic, they have no equal. They are a mild and gentle Purgative as well as Tonic. They Purify the Blood. They are a splendid Appetizer. They make the weak strong. They purify and invigorate. They cure Dyspepsia, Constipation and Headache. They act as a specific in all species of disorders which undermine the bodily strength and break down the animal spirits.

LYON'S KATHAIRON

Only 50 Cents per Bottle.

It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.

OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Prof. E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek "Kathro," signifying to cleanse, purify, rejuvenate, or restore. The favor it has received, and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the Growth and Beauty of the Hair. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich soft glossy appearance. It is the same in Quantity and Quality as it was over a Quarter of a Century Ago, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only 50 Cents per Bottle.

Woman's Glory is Her Hair.

Portland, Oregon, Aug. 22, 1873.

MR. SAMUEL CORWIN—Sir: In justice to yourself and for the benefit of those who may be afflicted with the small pox, I am induced to give publicity to the following facts: About the 20th of July, 1873, I became very unwell, having severe pain in my head, back and limbs, which continued to increase in severity for three or four days; a very high fever set in and I began to break out on my face, neck and body with what proved to be small pox. I procured of Dr. Freeland, of the Central Drug Store, a bottle of your small pox remedy. Notwithstanding the severity of the attack I administered the medicine myself, not in accordance with accompanying directions, but in about double doses. In three days all pain and fever disappeared. My recovery was extremely rapid notwithstanding frequent exposures by moving about from place to place while in a high fever, which is generally considered fatal in that disease, and it is my firm conviction that under the ordinary treatment for that disease I would not be living to-day. I took of the medicine at [illegible] two and a half bottles, more perhaps than was necessary. I [illegible] nothing to disagree until a thorough cure was effected.

PETER BECK.

I know of my own knowledge that the foregoing statement is true in every particular.

J. C. FREELAND.

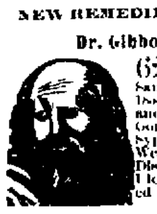
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and others requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor [illegible] in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a [illegible] existence from the effects of secret indulgence or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at the pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and broken-down constitutions, disqualifying [illegible] the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, [illegible] attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies, and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and [illegible] inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz.: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give Five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are laboring under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to every patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or no [illegible] charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in a registered letter through the Post office or through Wells Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates, deceive the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, [illegible] carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The surest way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patents, letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearny street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN. jy6dtp
